A group of friends wanders out into the meadow to play a game of hide-and-seek on a beautiful summer's afternoon. Children will delight in spotting the hidden creatures on each page as the little girl tries to find them. But it's not always clear who is hunting whom, or who is actually playing. A charming, richly illustrated book, with a gentle hint of suspense and a satisfying twist at the end.

Singing songs and rhymes is the perfect way to bond with your baby and share quality time. They aid language development by introducing the natural sounds and patterns of speech, helping your baby to learn about words, sounds and language formation. Combining these with actions stimulates the brain and helps muscle development and coordination.

Baby Board Books
Illustrated by Annie Kubler
Award-winning series designed for babies. Enjoying well-known nursery songs is a great introduction to books!

- Head, Shoulders, Knees and Toes...

Baby Gym
Illustrated by Sanja Rescek
Touch is a baby’s first language. Designed to stimulate the senses, and based on research into the benefits of baby exercise and massage, these books encourage interaction between parent and baby. Cuddling, exercise, movement and massage can strengthen this special bond, building a sense of security and confidence, inspiring calm or active moods.

Inclusions:
- All four titles feature children who wear glasses. In Zoom, Zoom, Zoom, Sleeping Bunnies and Round and Round the Garden there are children with hearing aids. Sleeping Bunnies also includes a child who uses a walking frame. The Wheels on the Bus shows a child wearing a head scarf and a child with no hair, another child drives an adapted toy car. One of the children in Zoom, Zoom, Zoom uses a wheelchair and another has an eye patch. In Round and Round the Garden a child has an arm splint.

Inclusions:
- Touch & Tickle features a wheelchair-using parent/carer. Babies with hearing aids are also featured in this and in Bounce & Jiggle. Support cushions and twins are featured in Wiggle & Move. All of the books show men and women interacting with the children.

‘Baby Signing’ describes the practice of using sign language with hearing babies to enable them to communicate before they can talk. Babies have a natural ability to use gestures, and signing is simply an extension of this.

By introducing simple signs at an early age, we can enable babies to communicate their emotions and their needs. Babies are able to coordinate and control their hand muscles much earlier than the muscles used for speech, meaning that they can produce recognisable signs from as young as seven months.

Contrary to concerns that signing with babies may inhibit their speech, research shows that signing actually helps babies to develop a wider vocabulary. It is vital, however, that signs are used in conjunction with speech to provide babies with a multi-sensory environment.

Benefits of Baby Signing

- Reduces frustration
- Strengthens the bond between baby and parent
- Can help the child to speak earlier than usual
- Helps to develop a wider vocabulary
- Leads to a higher than average literacy levels
- Leads to better communication between hearing and children with hearing impairment

What’s the time, Mr Wolf?
Annie Kubler
Follow Mr Wolf and Little Wolf through the hours in their day, from waking up to the all-important dinner time! Digital and analogue clocks on each page help us learn to tell the time.

The Lion’s Share
Illustrated by Martha Lightfoot
Lion always wants more than everyone else and he thinks it’s only fair that he gets the most! But will he still want the lion’s share when all the fun is over and it is time to clean up?

Quiet as a Mouse
Illustrated by Martha Lightfoot
Mouse keeps getting left out of all the party fun. His voice is so quiet that no one can hear him. Finally he finds his voice and his self confidence when it is needed to save his friend.

See you later, Alligator!
Annie Kubler
Alligator is always too busy and selfish to help Crocodile do the chores. When, and how, will he learn there is a time for work and a time for play? A fun introduction to the idea of helping others.

Dinosaur Diner
Annie Kubler
Dinosaur’s unbalanced diet and lack of exercise make for an unhealthy lifestyle and leave him with no energy. Will his healthy friend be able to encourage him to change his ways?

Don’t you dare, Dragon!
Annie Kubler
All Dragon wants to do is cool down and have a little fun, but every time she tries, she ruins it for everyone else! Thankfully, she finds some friends who need exactly what Dragon does best!

ROLY POLY BOX BOOKS

Kees Moerbeek
These Roly Poly Box books are a completely original design. They roll out box by box to reveal the story with pop-up images. Provides a whole host of tactile and visual surprises for all ages and is a great way to add some extra incentive and rewards to reading, especially for children who get bored quickly. Touching the images gives little ones the feeling that they’re inside the story, which makes it all the more engaging.

Inclusions

Clean it! features a child wearing a leg splint and a parent/carer using an inhaler. Cook it! includes a child cooking with a male parent/carer and reflects a mixed race, extended family. A woman with a guide dog is also featured. In Grow it! we see a child gardening with a female parent/carer and an older man, possibly a partner, grandfather or neighbour. A wheelchair user is also featured, along with easily accessible raised allotment beds. Fix it! features a girl carrying out traditionally boyish activities. In Shopping! a mixed-race Caucasian/Chinese family are shown. A partially sighted man using a white stick is also illustrated. Party! features a Mediterranean/Caucasian family enjoying food from a range of cultures. With two women and one man, a possible same-sex couple or co-parented family is suggested. Also features a child with hair loss/regrowth and one using tripod walking aids. Moving Day! depicts another mixed-race family with a father figure and an older woman who could be a younger grandmother or a neighbour. The woman is also pictured helping with heavy lifting and an asthma spacer is visible. Recycling! shows twins wearing secondhand clothes from children of both genders. A mark which could be eczema or a birthmark is also depicted on one of the characters.

First Time

Illustrated by Jess Stockham and Jan Lewis

These books can help make new experiences enjoyable and rewarding. The conversational text encourages readers to add their own words, and dynamic illustrations help establish dialogue between child and grown-up. An ideal starting point for discussion, helping children understand and share any worries, so they can prepare for and enjoy new events.

Inclusions

In Babysitter, only the male parent is pictured, which could be an indicator of a single parent family. Sign Language is also featured. Sleepover shows a child using a walking frame and reflects a less wealthy socio-economic environment. Only female parents/carers are shown, suggesting single-parent families. Nursery features a child with spina bifida who uses a wheelchair, a wedge, specialist classroom chairs and an adapted trolley. A child wearing an eye-patch is also shown and a toy traveller caravan features in the classroom. Big Day Out depicts sign language as well as hearing loop signs in the museum. Doctor features a boy who uses a wheelchair (which is incidental to his visit to the doctor) and a child with eczema. The receptionist is using a hearing aid. A black child is shown with a Caucasian female parent/carer who could indicate a mixed-race or an adoptive family. Dentist features twins, as well as a male primary carer. Hospital shows a range of different families as well as girls who challenge gender stereotypes. Vet features a child with a guide dog and one with glasses, as well as a child wearing a hearing aid. Male and female practitioners of a range of ages are represented throughout the four books. In Performance the teacher wears a voice amplifier for a child with a hearing aid. One child has a leg cast and is using crutches. One of the adults wears a hijab. Sports Day features a child wearing a wrist splint, a child wearing a headscarf (possibly to cover up hair loss) and a parent/carer who is a wheelchair-user. The spectators represent various family set-ups. In School Trip, one child uses a wheelchair and another has an asthma inhaler. One child is shown using an audio device to find out about a display – this could either represent visual impairment or a first language that isn’t English. Environmental factors are also depicted, such as an accessible toilet sign and Braille signage. In School one child uses tripods, while another wears a leg splint. There is also a child wearing a hearing aid. Twins are shown, as is a male primary carer who could also be a single dad.

Set to Sign

Illustrated by Jess Stockham

Using sign language can help to develop communication skills and is also lots of fun. Expand signing vocabulary with these cards, which are designed to be used either independently or alongside the Set 1 First Time books.
There was an old lady who swallowed a fly illustrated by Pam Adams

More than forty-five years after publication, this fantastic classic is still as popular as ever! Ingenious die-cut holes bring this much-loved nursery rhyme to life, and Pam Adams’ illustrations lend humour and vibrancy to the proceedings. Rhyme, rhythm and repetition for pre and early reading skills, plus observation and sequencing.

An entertaining diary format based on much-loved fairy tales. Visually stimulating pages, littered with pop-ups, photographs, letters, stickers, recipes and newspaper cuttings, bring the books to life – perfect for engaging early readers. Multi-media illustrations and handwritten text complete the illusion of a real scrapbook diary. Told in the main character’s voice, these books are great for looking at the perspectives of different characters and seeing the story from a different point of view. After reading these, children will want to create their own scrapbook diary.

Errol loves to grow things, but living in an apartment, he doesn't have a garden of his own. When he discovers a secret, neglected space at the top of his block of flats, he has an idea, but he'll need some help from his neighbours. A heart-warming tale of common purpose within a diverse community, Gillian Hibbs illustrates the power of the natural world to inspire and reward humanity within a seemingly inauspicious environment.

Nipper notices that Richard has left his lunchbox behind, and embarks on a difficult mission to deliver it. Will he reach Richard with his lunch still intact? Nipper and the Lunchbox is an uplifting story about true doggedness, and a celebration of the strong bond between humans and pets.

An over-active little rhino charges around his house and school. Everyone reminds him to be more careful, but his clumsiness continues. Will he remember to be gentle when it's most important? Ideal for instigating discussion on impulse control and self-regulation.

Bif is enjoying his breakfast one morning when his path becomes blocked by a massive rock. As Bif decides what to do next, his friends arrive, each using unique skills to try to move the obstacle. Can anyone beat the big red rock? Jess Stockham’s new book teaches children about creative problem-solving and teamwork and that sometimes the simplest solution is the best.
Rabbityness  Jo Empson
Rabbit enjoys doing rabbity things... he also loves unrabbity things! When Rabbit suddenly disappears, no one knows where he has gone. His friends are desolate. As it turns out, Rabbit has left behind some very special gifts to help them discover their own unrabbity talents! Rabbityness celebrates individuality, encourages creativity in everyone and positively introduces children to the concept of dealing with loss of any kind.

Tilly's Stay at Home Holiday
Hannah Cumming
Tilly's friends are all going to exciting places for their holidays, but she is staying at home. Mum says they'll have a great time together, but Tilly thinks it's impossible to have any holiday fun at home! But is it? A trip to the library takes Tilly and her mum on more exciting adventures than she could ever have dreamed.

The Wim Wom from the Mustard Mill
Polly Peters, illustrated by Jess Stockham
What is a Wim Wom? It will eat beans, steal socks and wipe its nose on coats, but what does it look like? Join the children as they try to imagine it from the clues their parents and grandparents give them. Eventually they decide that the Wim Wom doesn't really exist…or does it?

Copy Cat
Mark Birchall
Cat was small and Dog was big, and whatever Dog did, Cat did too... Dog is fed up with Cat copying everything she does. But when Cat stays away, Dog realises that playing alone is not nearly as much fun. A charming story about friendship, sharing and play.

Momo and Snap are NOT friends!
Arlie Anderson
When Momo and Snap meet, their competitive natures come out as each tries to outdo the other.

The Cherry Thief
Renata Galindo
Chef Armand's cakes are famous for the delicious red cherries that adorn each one. But when the cherries start disappearing, he sets a trap to catch the thief, with unexpected results! What will he do with the culprit, and is there a long-term solution that will make everyone happy? A charming debut picture book filled with very visual humour.

I Told You So!
Sarah Arnold
Sometimes, adults just won’t listen. Ella tries to warn Nursey about all the odd characters that are filling up Tom's pram. But Nursey won't believe her... until she can see for herself.

It's Raining! It's Pouring! We're Exploring!
Polly Peters, illustrated by Jess Stockham
On a boring rainy day three children are stuck inside with nothing to do, until their imaginations take over... Join them on an explorer's adventure as they navigate the caves in the living room, the mountainous stairs, and the wilds of the bedrooms.

The Acrobat
Alborozo
The acrobat works in a circus, but nobody notices him. He decides to find a new audience in the park, but even his very best tricks fail to catch anyone’s attention. Just as the acrobat is about to give up hope altogether, something extraordinary happens to change his luck.

Mr Moon Wakes Up
Jemima Sharpe
Mr Moon isn't the most exciting playmate during the day, but at night he inhabits a surreal garden filled with mythical creatures.
Quick as a Cricket     Don and Audrey Wood
A celebration of a child’s growing self-awareness, and a prime example of how books can contribute to this. Uses rhyming similes to build self esteem.

Matthew & Jessica Stories

Tooth Fairy     Audrey Wood
When Matthew loses a tooth, Jessica decides to make the Tooth Fairy’s visit doubly worthwhile. Fantastic for encouraging children to keep their teeth clean enough to warrant a place in the ‘hall of perfect teeth’.

PICTURE STORY PACKS

The Princess and the Dragon    Audrey Wood
When a princess who behaves like a dragon meets a dragon who behaves like a princess, there are unexpected results. Using the durable board masks and play script from the mask book, children can act out the story. The game challenges children’s reading and observation skills. They can also mime the expressions of their favourite characters and collect new vocabulary. Bring the story to life with these irresistible Dragon and Princess puppets. The 4 Story CD includes: The Princess and the Dragon, Scaredy Cats, 24 Robbers and Quick as a Cricket.

A child’s early years are more important than any other. This is when children learn most about the world around them, and the language skills they need to survive and grow. For more than 40 years, Child’s Play® has put enormous thought and care into creating exactly the right sort of material for this all-important time.

Child’s Play® has a history of creating innovative, award-winning books for children that promote learning through play. Vibrant illustrations positively portray children of all cultures, nationalities, gender and abilities, helping children to develop an understanding of our diverse society. Non-stereotypical traditions and values are fostered as a matter of course.

Respected and loved by parents, educationalists, and most importantly, children, the Child’s Play® programme offers learning, fun and happiness to children from the very earliest age. It provides a wide range of formats and experiences that will enrich and empower every child’s life.
